Lord Mayor's Show 14th November 2015

This year's Lord Mayor, Alderman The Lord Mountevans coming from a maritime background with Clarksons invited the Company to join together with the Royal Greenwich Museum's National Maritime Museum and have a float. The Company last entered a float was in the 1970s. Traditionally the Company's Doggett's Winners row the Lord Mayor down to HMS President and then accompany the carriages round the City. The National Maritime Museum has a Samuel Pepys' Exhibition at Greenwich. Samuel Pepys recorded some of his journeys to Greenwich by River and so the theme of float took shape. Thames Clippers and Sean Collins kindly agreed to help fund the entry of the float. The Company put on a running buffet in the afternoon inviting Freemen to come and watch. Though damp it was a great day and a privilege to take part in the 800th Lord Mayor's Show.
